Note. To use this extension simply drag onto design area open the extension properties set to what you wish and close properties if you wish to add a second link copy and paste the extension already in your design area again open the extension properties set to what you wish to be displayed and close. I had to build this way as it was the only way to get it to work as it should. I tried another way but it only showed one link on page after you opened in browser window. If I can fix this it will be fixed.

Note this extension no longer needs the use of XHTML 1.0 Transitional so all users of WB5/6 no longer have to set or make alterations to html to make extension work.
